THREE CLASSES OF AWARDS

Extra Civil Service Credits Given to
Those on the Roll Drawn Up by Commissioner to Spur Morale.

Bravery and heroism are pictured in the terse, prosaic phraseology of the police blotter in an honor list of public yesterday by Commissioner Mulrooney citing 308 members of the department for meritorious service during the past nine months. Incorporating "General Orders No. 35," under date of yesterday, the list is headed by the names of five men who were killed by bandits. In the new honor roll, compares with the roster of 392 police heroes, the largest of its kind, issued by Commissioner Mulrooney last April 2, when the effects of the Seabury investigation were beginning to be felt. The new list continues his policy of stimulating good morale by recognizing publicly those performing exceptional service. In addition to appearing on the list those cited receive the benefit of increased chances of promotion. Extra Civil Service credits of 1 point each are granted those receiving honorable mention. Those listed for commendation receive 1/2 point, and a listing for excellent police duty brings 3/4 point. Each itself is sometimes sufficient to advance a man fifty places in the line of promotion.

Air Division Recognized.

For the first time in the history of the department the Air Service Division is recognized in the award of commendation to Patrolmen Otto A. Kafka Jr. and George W. G. Sundt, who alighted on the waves off West Second Street, Coney Island, at July 15 and rescued a drowning woman.
